

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The American Promise Association of Knoxville (APAK) will host an interactive community event on government corruption resulting from BIG MONEY's influence in our political system.

WHEN: August 29, 2019, 6:30 p.m.
WHERE: Roane State Community College
Community Room
100 West Broadway, Lenoir City

Congress spends more than 50% of their time courting big donors. Congress has an 11% approval rating, yet they have a 95% re-election rate. Why?

Topics will include:

- The state of our Republic and why America is in danger
- How we got here
- Why political spending matters
- What we can do to save our Democracy

“When will the interests of the people be properly represented by our elected officials rather than the interests of their money handlers?” says Chet Hunt, citizen leader and founder of APAK. “Campaign Finance reform and eradication of political corruption will only come when ‘we the people’ demand it and hold officials accountable” Hunt continues. This event clearly reveals the disturbing truth of how elections are bought and sold, but APAK has a solid plan to correct this problem.

Admission is free, and there will be a question and answer session following the presentation. APAK is a cross-partisan nonprofit organization comprised of volunteer citizens who are rising up to take back our Republic and end the corruption that has infested our sacred halls. We believe in the equality of citizenship and that money is not the same as speech, that constitutional rights are for people, not corporations or dubious organizations masquerading as charitable nonprofits with the malicious intent of engineering our elections and weaponizing philanthropy using unlimited “dark money.”

For more information on this national effort, go to www.americanpromise.net.

We the People, Not Money...28th Amendment!

American Promise Association of Knoxville (APAK)

For more information contact Chet Hunt at chunt51@comcast.net or 865-247-8393